Well-Engineered

Fine Metal Roof Tech is staffed with a talented team of designers, architects, engineers and builders who conceptualize, develop and test fine metal roofing and wall cladding products. Our products are made to be easy to understand and install and each piece is engineered to last waterproof and maintenance free for the life of the material. Our metal shingle system has been in use throughout Germany for hundreds of years. The centuries old buildings clad in this system have stayed water-tight and maintenance free from the time they were built and continue remain so to this day. Few systems have been as tested and proofed as ours, and precious few are as beautiful.

Comprehensive

We have your roof and wall-cladding system in a box! Everything from our interlocking shingles to valleys to clips to flashings to ridge caps and more. No more hunting all over the place to get all your roofing supplies for your project!

Customizable and Versatile

Start imagining the countless ways you can design with our fine metal interlocking shingles by mixing and arranging colors, sizes, shapes and layouts.

Affordable

Regardless of your budget, our system offers a durable and beautiful option that suits your specific requirements at a price you can afford. If you're building a custom castle, there are few systems as authentic as ours. If you're building a modest home, you now have the option of a high-end product that you can easily afford.
